

Job Success for December Mia: Apprenticeship, SEND School, Derby

After 9 months, Mia was starting to lose interest in her college course.

She slowly started to miss many sessions, and then stopped attending college altogether.

Mia's parents had the conversation with her that she needed to be doing something whether it be education, employment, or training and as she already had a part time job, she was liking the money so decided to pursue an apprenticeship.

Mia subscribed to the Derby Jobs Weekly and noticed the apprenticeship section had an opportunity for a Teaching Assistant at a SEND School in Derby.

Mia went on the website and looked at all the criteria. She made the application, was contacted later that day for an interview. Following the interview Mia was offered the job.

Mia is delighted to now be in work and is delighted the vacancies in Derby Jobs gave her this opportunity!
