Civil ceremonies in Derby

Welcome

Thank you for choosing to have your ceremony in Derby. We hope this brochure will help to guide you through the legal formalities and other decisions in planning your special day.

Whatever type of ceremony you opt for - whether it's a small, intimate occasion with two witnesses or a grand, formal celebration - our professional staff will give you the standard of service to make your special day unique and memorable. All of our ceremonies give you that all-important personal touch with choices of readings and vows.

We would, of course, be delighted to help you with any questions you may have about your special day.

About the Derby Register Office

Derby Register Office is conveniently situated in the city centre on the corner of the Market Place at Royal Oak House. The first-floor ceremony suite features the impressive Oak Room with seating for 86 guests. The more personal Acorn Room has seating for 22 guests. There's also a guests' waiting room and a bridal waiting room. Both the Oak and Acorn Rooms have air conditioning and tasteful, silk-floral decoration that is changed on a seasonal basis.

All rooms are suitable for civil marriage and partnership ceremonies, baby naming ceremonies, renewal of marriage vows and citizenship ceremonies.

There are facilities to play cassette tapes or compact discs. We also allow video cameras, and will advise whoever is filming of the best position for the camera before the ceremony.

The building is fully accessible with disabled parking, toilet facilities, a lift and an induction loop.

You are very welcome to come and take a look around the Derby Register Office. Please see page 18 for our opening hours.

Civil marriage and partnership

Couples now have the choice of civil marriage or partnership in any register office or approved building in England and Wales. Approved buildings such as hotels, restaurants, stately homes and other prestigious sites are venues that have been approved by the local council as suitable for ceremonies. You can get a free list of all the approved buildings in Derby and South Derbyshire from the Derby Register Office. You can also get this list online at: www.derby.gov.uk

www.stevenbradshaw.co.uk

Approved buildings such as hotels, restaurants, stately homes and other prestigious sites are venues that have been approved by the local council as suitable for ceremonies.

Legal formalities

Before couples can have a civil marriage or form a civil partnership, the law says that they must both:

- 'give notice' of marriage or partnership in the district/districts in which they live. Both partners have to give this notice in person – no-one else can do this on their behalf. The notice is valid for one year.
- have lived in a district in England and Wales for seven clear days immediately before the date on which they give notice. It won't matter if they move address after giving notice.
- wait at least 15 clear days before the ceremony can take place after giving notice.

The Derby Register Office has an appointment system for giving notice of civil marriage or partnership. For an appointment, please contact the Derby Register Office – see page 18.

Immigration control

Different rules apply if either you or your partner are subject to immigration control, so please contact us for further advice. To find out if you are subject to immigration control, please see the Immigration and Nationality Directorate website or telephone 0870 606 7766.

www.stevenbradshaw.co.uk

Documents you will need to show us

When giving notice of civil marriage or partnership, both partners will need to bring proof of:

- age, identity and nationality – a valid passport is the best proof, but a full birth certificate, supported by another document such as a medical card may be acceptable. If you don't have a passport, we'll be happy to explain what other documents would be acceptable.
- address – such as a recent gas, electricity, phone or Council Tax bill, rent book, bank statement or driving licence.

Other documents we may need to see

If either partner has been married or has formed a civil partnership, we need to see evidence of how the marriage or partnership ended. This may be a certified copy of the final divorce decree or final order of civil partnership dissolution, or the death certificate of your former husband, wife or civil partner. We may need you to provide translations of foreign documents.

If either partner:

- has changed their name by Deed Poll, Statutory Declaration or Change of Name Deed, we will need to see the relevant document/documents.
- is under 18, we usually need the agreement of their parents or guardians.

A registrar can tell you more about the other documents you may need to provide.

Arranging your civil marriage or partnership

Once you have given notice of civil marriage or partnership in the district in which you live, it's important to contact the venue of your choice and the registrar who will conduct the ceremony. You need to make sure that both will be able to fit in with your arrangements and to make a provisional booking.

At some dates and times in the year, there may not be enough Register Office staff to cover all civil marriages or partnerships at approved buildings. If you choose a venue covered by the Derby Register Office, we will do our best to fit in with your plans. However, the sooner you contact us to book your ceremony the better. We can make a provisional booking up to two years in advance.

The law doesn't allow religious marriage ceremonies to take place at approved buildings – see the next page for information about religious marriages and whether or not to involve the Derby Register Office.

Religious marriages in...

...the Church of England

If you wish to marry in the Church of England, you should first speak to the vicar of the parish where you wish to marry. They will be able to tell you if you are entitled to marry at that church. If you are, the vicar will arrange for 'Banns' to be called for three Sundays before the day of the marriage or for a common licence to be issued. There's usually no need to involve a registrar from the Derby Register Office.

...other religious buildings

If you're planning to marry in any other religious building that is registered for marriage, you should first contact the minister or other person in charge of marriages at the building. If the person in charge agrees to marry you, you must each give notice of marriage at the Register Office – see the Legal formalities section on page 4.

Normally, you may only marry in a religious building in the district where one or both of you live. However, you may be able to marry in a religious building in a different district if it's the usual place of worship for you or your partner, or if there's no place of worship for your religion in the district where you or your partner live.

Derby Register Office will be happy to give you more advice about this.

There are a few religious buildings in Derby where there is no Authorised Person appointed to register a marriage. At these buildings, you'll need to arrange for a registrar to be present. Please contact the Derby Register Office to check the availability of a registrar as soon as possible.

Remember that the law doesn't allow religious marriage ceremonies to take place at approved buildings.

Ceremony choices

Civil marriage or partnership

Whether you choose to marry or form your partnership in the Register Office or one of the approved buildings, our aim is to give you the maximum choice. We offer all couples a ceremony to the same high standard – even though you don't, by law, need to have a ceremony to form a civil partnership.

Traditionally, a civil ceremony is quite brief, so we encourage you to consider ways of enhancing the ceremony.

Simon Burney - www.bunney.com

Simon Burney - www.bunney.com

When you book with us, we will offer you a selection of readings and vows or you can choose your own. We'll discuss with you how to make your day a personal and individual occasion.

When you book with us, we will offer you a selection of readings and vows or you can choose your own. We'll discuss with you how to make your day a personal and individual occasion. Please remember that, for legal reasons, your choice of readings, music, poetry or personal vows in the ceremony cannot be religious.

At the Derby Register Office, you can have music played while you or your guests are entering the room and afterwards while signing the register and taking photographs. The Register Office has facilities to play cassette tapes or compact discs. We also allow video cameras, and will advise whoever is filming of the best position for the camera before the ceremony.

On the day...

When marrying or forming a civil partnership at the Derby Register Office, please arrange to arrive with your guests at least 10 minutes before the time of your ceremony. If you or your guests are late, you will disrupt other ceremonies and we may have to make a fresh appointment. If you can't keep your appointment, please contact the Register Office as soon as possible – see page 18 for details.

You'll need two witnesses who are over 16 and they must be able to understand the ceremony.

Renewing civil marriage or partnership vows

This is a personal ceremony to renew your vows that's available to couples who want to celebrate their renewed commitment to each other. We have used Civil Ceremonies Limited to be able to offer you the finest individually written ceremony.

These ceremonies are available to all couples, at whatever stage in their marriage or partnership. They are often associated with a special anniversary, but the ceremony is just as appropriate at any stage of a relationship. Many couples who marry abroad choose to renew their vows in the UK as a special event for family and friends.

Naming ceremonies

A naming ceremony is a very special way of celebrating the birth of your child and of welcoming the new arrival into the family and wider community. In Derby, we offer a unique, individually-written ceremony.

Victoria Dolman Photography

It's an opportunity to declare your intention to be a good parent before your family and friends. It also gives adult friends and relatives the chance to confirm their special relationship with your child as they pledge their love and support for your child and their future.

For further information on any of the ceremonies described here, or to make a booking, please contact the Derby Register Office – see page 18 for contact details.
